An Exposition Of Hebrews (Arthur Pink Collection Book 21)

Synopsis

â—¶ DESCRIPTION The doctrinal importance of Hebrews is exceeded by none, not even by the Roman Epistle. Where its teachings are believed, understood, and embodied in the life, ritualism and legalism (the two chief enemies of Christianity) receive their death blow. In no other book of Scripture are the sophistries and deceptions of Romanism so clearly and systematically exposed. So fully and pointedly are the errors of Popery refuted, it might well have been written since that satanic system became established. Well did one of the Puritans say, "God foreseeing what poisonous heresies would be hatched by the Papacy, prepared this antidote against them."â—¶

Customer Reviews

This is a masterpiece from Arthur Pink. Here we find a verse by verse exposition on the book of Hebrews that go deep into the text. From his exposition we can better understand the reality that Our Lord Jesus is above all! This is a great resource for group Bible study! I used this in a four-year group study on the book of Hebrews along with material from John Macarthur (highly recommended as well), John Gill, and John Calvin. That is so much to learn from the pen of AW Pink. This is a book we can read slowly and appreciate all that the Scriptures teach about Our Lord Jesus Christ.

This book is awesome! If you can get beyond the out dated sentence structure... which surely you can... you will find a lot of background detail and join me and Mr Pink in saying, "Precious is this!" He advocates for the sovereignty of God, that the elect were chosen in Christ before the creation of the world.. that Christ died only for the elect, even though we don't know who they are... and that the saints will persevere... so if you don't agree with Calvin and what God says, you will not agree with Mr. Pink. This is worth the read!

A sound exposition of the thoughts expressed in the epistle to the Hebrews. Not for the fast reader, but for the one with a keen desire to learn regardless of the time it takes. You will find yourself going back to this book frequently and using the expressed principles with relation to many other scriptures and enjoying Mr. Pink's outlines and explanations. My own hard copy of this fine book took wings/legs years ago and I was positively thrilled to find it available to Kindle users for a tiny fraction of the original cost. Definitely recommended for all serious students of the Holy Scriptures.

I began reading this exposition online and was so blessed by the wisdom the Spirit of God has given to Brother Pink that I wanted a hard copy for my small library. I've read other expositors (some of whom he references in his writing) but Arthur Pink is blessed with a unique ability to bring together such in depth teachings with his references coming from the Holy Scriptures. Teaching of this level is unheard of in churches today. His exposition gives light, insight, and understanding to just how magnificent our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ really is! The Lord Jesus is exalted (as He should be) to be more clearly seen as the image of the invisible God, as Scripture states, He is "the brightness of his glory, and the express image of his person." If the Lord Jesus Christ is your personal Saviour you will find quite a blessing in this exposition.

This review concerns the one-volume commentary, ISBN 0-8010-6857-6. I mainly purchased Pink's commentary because almost without exception, the recently-written commentaries cited his work. I am not seminary-trained; I teach a SS class. This commentary is a great resource for me. Pink wrote this in the mid-20th century, and of course used the KJV for his work. I don't use the KJV, but I found this didn't hurt the use of Pink's work much at all. There were a few sections that had lost a bit of utility, but for the most part, the commentary was valid for the ESV that I use. This commentary is not a scholarly work, and there are no uses of greek or hebrew in the text. It is an expository commentary, and this makes it accessible for those without training in biblical languages (such as myself). Where original languages are referenced, they are transliterated. Pink is not Arminian in his outlook, but unlike some of the older non-Arminian commentaries, he does not follow Calvin or Luther blindly. His work differs from theirs in several places, such as chapter 6. On the whole, the commentary follows the doctrines of grace very well and has no mix of semi-Pelagianism in it. Pink does not include a bibliography, which helps keep the volume uncluttered. Extensive bibliographies are available in newer commentaries (see Word Biblical Commentary, for example) which are more inclusive due to their recent date of publication. He also does not include chapter notes, but cites his sources by name within the chapters. The book is over 1300 pages, and all of it is expository material, so you won't go wanting in any section of the text. This is not a stand-alone commentary; you'll want a more contemporary one to go with it (for reasons stated above), but for sheer volume of exposition on a difficult but critically important book of Scripture, this commentary is a must-have for the student or teacher of the Bible. God has blessed the Church with learned men through history, and A. W. Pink is certainly one of them; I recommend this commentary to one and all.

I have the Exposition on John and Hebrews plus many, many more. I am gaining a good deal of insight from this years-past preacher who opens doors of understanding. I am so thankful I found these readings. My only point of disagreement is the use of the term "Trinity" which I replace with "Godhead." Trinity today is "God the Father," "God the Son (Jesus)," and "God the Holy Spirit/Ghost." While "In the beginning was the "WORD." I don't see the Son Jesus mentioned; God the Father did not send him in the flesh yet. I don't mean to open a can of worms, yet this works far better for me when knowing "trinity" is not used in the Bible while the "Godhead" is found in Acts 17:29; Rom 1:20 & Col 2:9. Just my understanding.

"Exposition" is an understatement...this is truly a labor of love and not just the Scriptures restated in a different manner...this is a "must have" for the New Testament child of God, who is hungry to understand his/her Old Testament roots!
