Weep Not For Me: In Memory Of A Beloved Cat

Synopsis

The death of a beloved companion animal can cause as much grief as the death of a human being, and it may be more difficult to bear if others fail to appreciate how acute the pain of loss can be. This poem provides the comfort that helps to bring acceptance of a pet's death. The book includes addresses of societies that offer grief counseling to those who have lost a companion animal.

Constance Jenkins composed this poem to comfort her sister who had just lost her much-loved cat. She lives in Chandler, Arizona.

The book is very, very short, and has very few words in it. However, to those who have lost a cherished pet, it has the power to move one to tears. I lost my wonderful, special needs cat in 2005, yet I still think about her and mourn her loss. We struggled together to treat her renal failure, but she had a loving, safe home after I found her on the edge of a busy street, obviously very sick. It is a moving little book, and best given to one who has lost a pet. It brings back all of the memories, for good or for ill. My wife liked it so much she has purchased another copy to give to a friend from church who is probably going to lose her 20-year-old cat within the next few months.

This book was an excellent choice for my wife when she lost her cat of 16 years, which was tough for both of us though I only knew the little critter for 5 years. This book is really just a poem with one line on each page and a sketch of a different cat in playful poses. It's size is small so it can be carried on travel if sad thoughts resurface. It really is excellent to give to anyone close to you who you know has suffered such a loss.

This was a great book, good to give to anyone you know who has lost a beloved cat and wants to remember them without feeling overly sad. The book is great at viewing the positive side of death, while reminding you that you have given your precious kitty so much in their lives, and that their lives were definitely made better by you, no matter how long you were together.

It is a beautiful, beautiful poem that she's written and published in this book. It's heartbreaking and consoling at the same time. Having just lost one of my Babies, one of my little children, it was very moving. I highly, highly recommend it for anyone who has been so unfortunate as to have lost one of their "little children" too.

My sister-in-law and brother, like me, are cat lovers and recently had to put down one of their cats due to an inoperable tumor that was significantly decreasing their kitty's quality of life. Always horrible. This book doesn't contain a lot of words, but the ones it includes are just right. Also, the pictures capture so well those lovable poses every catowner loves. This book is small and inexpensive ($6). I tucked it in with a sympathy card geared toward the loss of a cat and let the book do the talking.

I am knee deep in grief over the loss of my beloved cat. This wonderful little book helped a lot.

Very comforting read - we had to put our beloved kitty to sleep in mid-September 2014, and we are still very brokenhearted. I refer to this book from time to time for comfort. I know we did the right thing for her - we just weren't ready to let her go!

When I lost my best furry friend of 16 years, I grieved for such a long time. My precious kitty had been with me through so much. It was so hard losing him to kidney disease. While I could never have him back - i do have the memories. This little book helped with the pain of my loss.
